Dear Ms. Brodecky:

I am writing in response to your ad for an entertainment writer in Current Jobs in Writing, Editing and Communications. I have over a decade of experience as a music critic primarily in the Philadelphia area. For eleven years I wrote a regular column on music for the "alternative" weekly, the Welcomat (now known as Philadelphia Weekly).

Eventually I became music editor, then associate editor, while also serving stints as copy editor and production manager. During this time I also wrote columns for two other regional paper, one a weekly and the other a monthly.

Since leaving the Welcomat, I have continued to write on a freelance basis, contributing to several entertainment websites and most recently was published in a British newspaper, the Western Daily Press.

Enclosed is my resume, some clips and a list of artists I have interviewed.

Thank you for your consideration and I look forward to your response.

Sincerely,

Peter Brown
